A Stop With 36 Seconds

With 36 seconds left, the Panthers needed one more play to protect a two-point lead. Baltimore quarterback Jacoby Brissett threw toward a possible winning drive, but linebacker Tyrel Dodson stepped in front of the pass at the Ravens' 44-yard line. His interception gave Carolina the ball, and Bryce Young took two kneels to end a 35-33 win.

That final stop completed a game that swung wildly from one side to the other. Carolina entered Sunday at 4-5, hoping to build on its Week 10 victory and stay close in the NFC South race. Baltimore came in at 4-6 after three straight losses, needing a cleaner finish. Instead, both teams faced sudden changes from the opening minutes.

Ravens Jump Ahead

Baltimore began with a safety when linebacker Mike Green sacked Young in the end zone. A safety gives a team two points when it tackles the offense in its own end zone. The Ravens then used a direct snap to Derrick Henry before Brissett hit Rashod Bateman for a 52-yard touchdown pass. A 28-yard field goal made the score 12-0.

Young answered just before the first quarter ended. He connected with Jalen Coker for 35 yards, then found Mitchell Evans for a 23-yard touchdown with one second left. The second quarter brought even more sharp turns. Justice Hill ran 36 yards for Baltimore but lost the ball out of the end zone, giving Carolina possession. Soon after, the Panthers recovered a muffed punt at Baltimore's 23-yard line, and Chuba Hubbard scored on an 18-yard run for a 14-12 lead.

The Last Wild Turn

Baltimore responded when Devontez Walker returned the kickoff 86 yards for a touchdown. Young kept Carolina moving, however, as Tetairoa McMillan caught a 7-yard touchdown and Hubbard ran in the two-point try. Brissett and Hill answered before halftime with a 19-yard touchdown run, putting the Ravens ahead 26-22.

After halftime, Hubbard became Carolina's steady force. He broke free for 26 yards, then scored from 1 yard out to give the Panthers a 29-26 lead. He finished with 120 rushing yards and two touchdowns, even while Baltimore had sacked Young three times. The Ravens later took a 33-32 lead on Henry's 15-yard touchdown run after a Panthers pass in the end zone was intercepted.

Young did not rush after that setback. Key completions to McMillan, Coker, and Tommy Tremble moved Carolina into field-goal range, and Ryan Fitzgerald made a 37-yard kick with 1:44 remaining. Dodson's interception then gave that score its meaning. The Panthers rose to 5-5 and will next face the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, while Baltimore fell to 4-7 before meeting the Houston Texans.

READING

Correct answers are filled in.

1 C — Dodson intercepted Brissett's pass, and Young took two kneels.

Dodson's interception stopped Baltimore's possible winning drive with 36 seconds left. Young's kneels then ended the game.

2 B — A two-point score when the offense is tackled in its own end zone

The article directly explains that a safety gives a team two points when it tackles the offense in its own end zone.

3 D — The teams traded leads repeatedly, but Carolina made key late plays to win.

The article describes several lead changes and scoring swings. Carolina's late field goal and Dodson's interception ultimately decided the close game.

4 B — It gave Carolina the ball at Baltimore's 23-yard line, leading to a Panthers lead.

After Carolina recovered the muffed punt at Baltimore's 23-yard line, Hubbard scored on an 18-yard run. That score gave the Panthers a 14-12 lead.

5 D — He provided dependable progress for Carolina's offense.

The phrase is supported by Hubbard's 26-yard run, his 1-yard touchdown, and his total of 120 rushing yards. These details show that he consistently helped move Carolina forward.

6 What a good answer includes:

A strong response explains that Baltimore built an early 12-0 lead, while Carolina answered with touchdowns and took advantage of Baltimore mistakes. It should also describe later lead changes and explain how Fitzgerald's late field goal and Dodson's interception helped Carolina finish with the win. The response should use accurate details from multiple parts of the article.
